Bring in your troops to explore this 10,000-square-foot exhibit that examines Western Pennsylvania’s incredible impact on the home, industrial, and battle fronts. But hurry, We Can Do It! closes on Jan. 3, 2016.

Featuring more than 275 rare artifacts, three jeeps, interactive displays, life-like museum figures, and immersive museum settings, We Can Do It! helps to bring the 1940s to life.

Visitors will learn about the development of the jeep, a uniquely American invention produced by the American Bantam Car Company in Butler, Pa., and will uncover the stories behind local “Rosie the Riveters,” George Marshall, Jimmy Stewart, and the Tuskegee Airmen whose contributions helped to turn the tide of the war.

Exhibition highlights include:
• A 38-ton Sherman tank, used during the Battle of the Bulge in WWII, outside of the History Center on Smallman St.;
• A powerful “Hall of Industry” display featuring artifacts produced for the Allied forces by a variety of Western Pa. companies including Westinghouse, U.S. Steel, Dravo, Alcoa, MSA, Heinz, American Bridge Company, Zippo, and many more;
• Several artifacts and images on loan from the Smithsonian, including “Gramps,” a 1940 prototype Bantam Reconnaissance Car (BRC), the oldest known jeep in existence, and a Curtiss-Wright Airplane Propeller, courtesy of the Smithsonian’s National Air and Space Museum;
• A U.S. Army Air Corps uniform jacket worn by Jimmy Stewart, the legendary actor and Indiana, Pa. native who became the first Hollywood star to enlist in the military; and
• The Reflections Room featuring recordings from Western Pa. WWII veterans and 7,000 recreated dog tags suspended from the ceiling in honor of our veterans.

The History Center partnered with several organizations to develop the exhibit, including the Smithsonian Institution, Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, Soldiers and Sailors Memorial Hall, Holocaust Center of Pittsburgh, Veteran’s Voices, Bantam Jeep Heritage Festival, Association of the United States Army (AUSA) Fort Pitt Chapter, the Tuskegee Airmen of the Western Pennsylvania Region, Zippo/Case Museum, Butler County Historical Society, First Frontier Mechanized Cavalry, and more.

See page 2 for upcoming We Can Do It! public programs. For photographs, videos, and much more, be sure to visit www.heinzhistorycenter.org/exhibits.

The History Center is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. We Can Do It! WWII is included with regular History Center admission: $16 for adults, $14 for seniors (age 62+), $6.50 for military, $6.50 for students and youth (age 6-17), and free for children (age 5 and under) and History Center members. Tanks for the Memories

Saturday, Oct. 24, 2015 • 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Don’t miss the History Center’s 28-ton Sherman tank in action! See live demonstrations with WWII re-enactors and get the behind-the-scenes story about these tank heroes, their drivers, and the unexpected role they played during WWII and the “Battle of the Bulge.” The tank crew and re-enactors from the First Frontier Motorized cavalry will also be stationed nearby for up-close tank tours during tank combat. At 11 a.m., Col. Kevin W. Farel of the U.S. Army Reserve will provide a special “tank talk” about his experiences as a co-pilot for fighter pilot Brad Pitt in the movie “Fury.” Following this talk, tank enthusiasts of all ages will have the opportunity to climb aboard the tank. Tickets are $10 for members, $15 for non-members, and $5 for juniors.

Located behind the History Center at 2212 Penn Ave. in the Strip District, the nine-floor building also houses the History Center’s collection, which includes more than 23,000 artifacts. The new space features Smithsonian-quality lighting, temperature, humidity, and security, and 120 new exhibit cases fill the first-floor history museum, making it the first facility in the region to provide professional conservation services directly to the public.

In early 2016, the History Center will open the new Viewlyn Gallery in the Ian Fulk Collection Center on the building’s fourth floor. The new space will exhibit hundreds of fascinating artifacts from the History Center’s collection that were previously off of public view in an innovative and engaging way.

For more information or to make an appointment, please contact Beth Antal at 412-454-6450 or bantal@heinzhistorycenter.org, or visit www.heinzhistorycenter.org.

Traveling Exhibits Spread History Regionally

Four life-like museum figures of local heroes are featured in the History Center – one nearing completion, “Mister Rogers’ Neighborhood.” To help children distinguish between the real world and the world of imagination, television pioneer Fred Rogers created the “Neighborhood of Make-Believe” as a home for his puppet friend, King Friday XIII, king of the “Neighborhood of Make-Believe.”

“Mister Rogers’ Neighborhood” is presented in cooperation with the Fred Rogers Company and supported by the Institute of Museum and Library Services (IMLS) and the John and Mable Ringling Museum of Art.

Toys of the ’50s, ’60s, and ’70s: Upcoming Exhibition is All Fun and Games

Coming Soon! March 4 – May 31, 2016

Set to open on March 4, 2016, the History Center’s upcoming exhibition promises to bring the kid in all of us.

Toys of the ’50s, ’60s, and ’70s will showcase some of the nation’s most popular toys and demonstrate how these toys reflected the decades of dynamic changes in American life.

Featuring more than 50 memorable toys, from Barbie and Gumby to Hot Wheels and Atari, Toys of the ’50s, ’60s, and ’70s will give visitors a personal perspective of children, parents, child-rearing experts, and advertisers.

Developed in partnership with the Minnesota Historical Society, the History Center’s exhibit will share the stories behind the iconic toys, including how they were created and used to teach and entertain children.

As part of the exhibit, visitors will be able to enjoy hands-on examples of key toys along with a special section at the end of the exhibit. The History Center will also showcase artifacts and stories behind toys developed in Western Pennsylvania, including items from the Wurlitzer Toy Company and the Slinky.

For more information, please contact Emily Bailey at 412-454-6450 or sbailey@heinzhistorycenter.org or visit www.heinzhistorycenter.org/exhibits.

The Conservation Center assists visitors with expert advice on how to preserve their treasures, including works of art, photographs, and documents from the home. The facility also connects visitors with conservators should their heirlooms require professional repair.

We Can Do It! WWII Gold Certification

The History Center’s Museum Conservation Center recently earned the prestigious LEED® Gold Certification for environmental sustainability by the U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC).

The USGBC bestowed the Conservation Center for its energy-saving standards and maintaining the historical integrity of the 55,000-square-foot building, which was built in 1972 as the home of the Maretta Chair Co.

To help celebrate this accomplishment, the History Center will exhibit hundreds of fascinating artifacts from the History Center’s collection that were previously off of public view in an innovative and engaging way.

Captured: New Exhibit Details Indian Captivity

Explore the practice of American Indian captivity as part of the Fort Pitt Museum’s new exhibit, Captured by Indians: Warfare & Assimilation on the 18th Century Frontier. Using documentary evidence gleaned from 18th and early 19th century primary sources and dozens of real artifacts, Captured examines the practice of captivity from its prehistoric roots to its impact on modern American Indians and other ethnicities. The exhibit is sponsored by The David and Wendy Ransford. The Lauren Foundation, Richard King Mellon Foundation, and H. Woodruff Turner.

Highlights of the exhibit include three new life-like vignettes of local families captured by Indians, a rare prisoner card used to bind captives during raids on frontier settlements, and items from captor/Missionary contacts. Fort Pitt Museum is the most affordable family friendly cultural experience in the region. Admission is $7 for adults, $6 for senior citizens, and $5 for youth and youth ages 5-17. Children under 5 and History Center members get in free. For more information, visit www.heinzhistorycenter.org or contact Alan Gutchezz at 412 281-9284 or sguthnez@heinzhistorycenter.org.

Hop into History

Hop into History sessions support early learning initiatives while entertaining and inspiring a new generation of “little historians.”

Places of Invention

Two History Center-produced videos are now on display as part of the Places of Invention exhibition, located inside the Smithsonian’s National Museum of American History in Washington, D.C. With guidance from the Smithsonian, the History Center utilized oral histories, collections research, and archival information to create videos highlighting the region’s rich Jewish History. The History Center videos specifically focus on the region’s rich past through the works of several legendary Pittsburgh jazz musicians, including Billy Strayhorn, Marty Lewis, George Benson, and Billy Eckstine. For more information, please visit http://invention.smmithsonian.org.

“Pittsburgh’s Hidden Treasures” Set to Kick Off New Season

Get ready for a new season of the highly popular “Pittsburgh’s Hidden Treasures” show on KDKA-TV beginning in January 2016.

This August, hundreds of visitors from around the region brought in their family heirlooms and met with more than 40 professional appraisers for the History Center’s Pittsburgh’s Hidden Treasures event.

Visitors learned about the monetary value and historic significance of their items. The best stories will be featured on a special 30 minute show on KDKA beginning in January. In addition to the appraisals, during each show, expert conservators from the Smithsonian Institution and the History Center’s new Museum Conservation Center will provide tips on how to preserve your treasures for future generations.

For more information and a complete list of air dates, please visit www.heinzhistorycenter.org/events.

The perfect gift for all seasons is also the best deal in history!

This year, give the gift of a History Center membership and you will receive 15% off the membership price. A History Center membership offers free, unlimited admission to the History Center museum system, invitations to unique and special member-only events, subscriptions to award-winning publications such as the Western Pennsylvania History magazine, the Making History newsletter, and the Smithsonian magazine, venues that encourage fun, reminiscing, and education for everyone, and discounts to special programs and events.
