Sports Museum to Host NFL PLAY 60 Training Camp on Feb. 1

- Admission to the event is FREE for all kids aged 17 and under, courtesy of DICK'S Sporting Goods -

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 17, 2025 – One week before fans watch pro football's biggest game, the Western Pennsylvania Sports Museum at the Senator John Heinz History Center is bringing back the NFL PLAY 60 Training Camp to challenge kids to get up and get active. The Training Camp sponsored by DICK'S Sporting Goods will take place on Saturday, Feb. 1, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

As part of the event, admission to the museum is FREE for kids aged 17 and under, courtesy of DICK'S Sporting Goods.

Children of all ages can score big throughout five floors of activities:

- Train like a pro in the mini-NFL Combine with a series of quick-hitting drills
- Discover the region's incredible sports history while completing a list of physical challenges throughout the Sports Museum
- Unleash your creativity and best moves in the popular touchdown celebration contest
- Blitz your way to bragging rights as you compete for exciting prizes and special giveaways from DICK'S Sporting Goods throughout the day

The NFL PLAY 60 Training Camp will include activities from local community organizations like P3R's Kids of STEEL, Pittsburgh NFL League, Live Fresh, and more.

This event is presented in partnership with the Pittsburgh Steelers and NFL PLAY 60, the National Football League's health and fitness campaign to encourage young fans to be active for at least 60 minutes a day.

All NFL PLAY 60 Training Camp activities and access to History Center exhibitions are FREE for children aged 17 and under. Regular admission applies for adults.

Parents and caregivers are invited to cheer on their kids during the program and must remain on-site while their players are participating.
